
CHEVROLET ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING

Louis Chevrolet, world famed racer and winner of the Cobe road race at Crown Point, several years ago, was hitting up the high spots while on his way through Hammond to the Chicago speedway yesterday afternoon and consequently he ran into Motorcycle Officer William Lute and was invited to take a little ride to the Central police station to see Chief of Police Peter Austgen.

Chevrolet explained that the machine in low speed could not run any slower than thirty miles an hour and he was not aware that he was driving so fast. He visited with the officers at the Central station for over an hour and later was released.
