

TRY TO "SHOW UP" DAD AND UNCLE ON TRAPS OF LOCAL GUN CLUB

A little family party usually found at the Indianapolis Gun Club every Saturday afternoon is Chevrolet in its makeup. There's Louie Chevrolet, famous automobile engineer and racing driver; his equally well known brother, Arthur, and Louie's likable son, Charles.

The boy takes keen delight in trying to "show up" dad and uncle at the traps and the wise ones say the youngster is going to make dad and uncle shoot some to hold the family laurels. The photograph was taken when dad and uncle were trying to tell the kid a few things about trap-shooting. Keen as the competition is, however, the older Chevrolets always smile approvingly when the youngster bags a good score of clay pigeons.
