

COMPLETE AIR JAUNT AROUND THE WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Day Land in Baltimore After Girdling Globe in Small Plane.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 19.—Completing an airplane trip around the world, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Healy Day arrived at the Glen Martin Airport here today, from which they started on April 28. Among those who welcomed them were Mayor and Mrs. Howard W. Jackson, Senator Millard Tydings, Louis and Mrs. Chevrolet, Mrs. Mina Martin, Lieut. Col. William D. Tipton and Mrs. Tipton and Major Charles A. Mason.

It doesn't take a large wardrobe to wear on a trip around the world if you go by airplane, Mrs. Day said.

"I took along an evening gown, a few jersey dresses and several sweaters," she said. "Mostly, though, I was dressed as I am now."

Mrs. Day opened her light overcoat and revealed a short brown divided skirt with a light jacket. In lieu of a hat she wore an aviator's helmet.

"This garb is most convenient, because overalls may be worn over it while flying or servicing the plane," she observed. "We had no trouble on the trip except once when an oil line became loose and we made a forced landing on a beach bordering a Burma jungle. Some natives led Mr. Day to a Baptist missionary not far away and, with him as an interpreter, arrangements were made to remove the motor, load it on bamboo poles and to carry it to a town where it could be repaired."

The world trip was made in a small biplane of Mr. Day's design. It is powered with a motor designed by Mr. Chevrolet.

From Baltimore Mr. and Mrs. Day flew to New York, where the plane was crated and shipped across the Atlantic to London. From London Mr. and Mrs. Day, alternating as pilots, flew over Belgium, France, Germany, Bulgaria, Turkey, Syria, India and China.

At Shanghai the plane was again crated and shipped across the Pacific to San Francisco. From the West Coast the couple flew by easy stages across the United States and landed here today from Washington.

Every mile of overland travel was by plane, the fliers said, and they enjoyed every minute in the air.
